IMPORTANT – Tips for Proper Preparation of Plastics for Round up

Sort into these 5 categories:

#2 Bottles and jugs
#2 Tubs and lids
#2 Beverage handles
#4 Lids, tubs bottles and jugs.
#5 Tubs, jugs, bottles, lids

Be sure to prepare materials correctly so it is not rejected. All materials will be screened by Lane County staff. If materials are dirty, incorrectly sorted or prepared, they will be rejected and it will be your responsibility to dispose of the material.

Q. What about adhesive labels?
A. Paper and other plastic labels may require soaking. The best method is to apply a generous coating of old cooking oil to the label and let it sit overnight, by morning it is easy to remove and wipe away the oil and remaining adhesive. The residue/remaining adhesive does not always have to be 100% removed, its best, but we can accept a small amount if all other preparation conditions are correct.

Q. What about Trays?
A. Trays are not on our acceptable list because most are #1 or #6. BUT there are a few #2, #4, or #5 trays showing up lately. If you encounter these, we can accept them in the appropriate numbered tub collection.

Q. How do I identify whether it’s a bottle or a tub?
A. #2 tubs must be separated from #2 bottles. Bottles have a threaded lid and a seam line across the bottom. Tubs do not have a threaded top and generally have a dimple or circular “line” around the bottom, not a line.

Beware of the Look a-likes! Some #1s LOOK just like #2s, #4s and #5s!
Several product bottles that have typically been #2 or #5 are now showing up in a #1 resin—not recyclable in this collection; #2 tubs and #5 tubs are virtually indistinguishable; and packaging materials change without warning. Always check the number! All items MUST have the number code!
